Ala. City Presses Probe Of Large Dynamite Theft

Birmingham Still Under Heavy Patrol

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A large dynamite theft preceded night bombings that set off rioting by Negroes a week ago in this integration target city, Sheriff Melvin Bailey disclosed Sunday.

"There is plenty of loose dynamite in this area," Bailey said. The theft from a storage house of two cases of the explosive several days before the blasts has been under intensive investigation, he said.

"It's a frightening amount," the sheriff added.

Authorities had nearly 1,300 law enforcement officers on call this weekend as a guard against another strike by bomb tossers.

Birmingham's racial troubles were discussed briefly Saturday by President Kennedy and Gov. George C. Wallace, who met at a Tennessee Valley Authority ceremony in northern Alabama.

Suit Filed By Governor

Neither disclosed what was said. Earlier, Wallace filed suit in the U.S. Supreme Court to bar use of about 3,000 federal troops which Kennedy has stationed at two Alabama bases for possible action in Birmingham.

The sheriff said two cases of dynamite was a large amount but he declined to be specific. There have been no reports of explosives stolen since the bombings, he said.

Federal, state and local authorities are investigating the blasts which ruined the suburban home of a Negro minister, the Rev. A. D. King and a Negro motel, headquarters for integration leaders.

No substantial progress has been reported by investigators.

Several hundred state troopers, special deputies, city and county policemen held the uneasy city under tight security.

Police "Here Indefinitely"

Col. Albert J. Lingo, state safety director and head of the highway patrol, said his force alone was about 700 men. This includes some deputized National Guardsmen.

"We'll be here indefinitely," Lingo said. That was the attitude of city and county authorities since the bombings and rioting a week ago caught them off guard.

Dawn found the troopers and deputies on duty eating breakfast in a park where Lingo has set up field headquarters in a mobile unit, a block from the bombed motel.

In such an atmosphere and with the nation watching, Wallace and Kennedy exchanged formal greetings Saturday after the President stepped from his airplane at Muscle Shoals, Ala.

A surging throng of Alabamians cheered the President. And the governor, often called "the fighting little judge," remarked to a newsman later: "It was a tremendous and fitting reception. The people of Alabama really turned out to pay honor to the President."

Exile Groups Report Raid On Cuban Post

MIAMI (UPI) — Anti-Castro guerrillas attacked a Cuban military encampment Saturday night and killed several government militiamen during a brief hit-and-run raid, exile sources here reported Sunday.

The sources said the raid took place at a military post on Parara Beach, about 10 miles from Havana.

The raiders fought with the Castro forces about 25 minutes before pulling back and escaping in two motorboats. The sources said it was not known how many Castro militiamen were killed.

Death Toll Set At 27 In Canal Plunge By Bus

BELLE GLADE, Fla. (AP) — An all-night search for additional dead in the murky waters of an Everglades canal was halted Sunday and the death toll remained at 27 in possibly the worst highway tragedy in Florida history.

Thirteen children, five women and nine men, all Negro harvest workers, died when a bus hauling them home from the field side-swiped a truck and plunged into a 20-foot-deep canal. Fifteen managed to get out of the sinking vehicle and swim to safety.

"I think we got them all now," George Emerson, a highway patrolman, said Sunday, after divers had worked through the night searching for possible other victims.

"Poor Boy Slim's bus," operated by Edgar Lee Anderson to carry migrant workers to and from the vegetable fields of this truck farm area, was rattling along over narrow, bumpy State Road 827 when disaster came.

A truck driven by James Sconyers, 34, a Belle Glade dragline operator, attempted to pass. The right rear fender of his truck snagged the front left bumper of the bus.

"We were hooked up for about 70 feet," Sconyers said. "Then we broke loose and he skidded down a 10-foot embankment into the water."

Inside the bus, as it sank slowly below the surface, the 42 panic-stricken riders beat at the windows with hands and feet. Four windows were smashed and the survivors scrambled out. Some reached the bank bleeding from cuts.

Divers went to work and a wrecker was brought to attempt to raise the bus to the surface. Flashing red lights from police squad cars cast an eerie glow over the scene as the work went on. Finally, the bus was brought up filled with victims aged 6 to 65.

Soviet Denounces Bonn-Paris Pact

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union, in a note to France published Sunday, said the new French-West German treaty of cooperation "reeks with gun powder."

The note was handed to French Charge d'Affaires F. de Laboulle Friday by Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

A similar note was handed to the Germans the same day and published Saturday. In an apparent effort to get more propaganda mileage from the twin blast, publication of the French note was delayed until Sunday. It said:

"The first Franco-West German treaty of alliance reeks of gun powder and military hospitals. This is nothing but a militarist bloc of two nations within a military alignment of fifteen (meaning the Atlantic Alliance)."

It said France was covering up German preparations for "new military adventures" directed against the Soviet bloc.

Fat Man Goes On Solitary Crash Diet Aboard Boat

HUNTINGTON, N.Y. (AP) — Norman Pearlman interrupted his shipboard routine Sunday to take inventory of his provisions for the two weeks ahead—a task that took little time.

"It's not much of a chore to count a handful of vitamin pills, a sack of tea bags, a couple of cans of coffee and three or four cases of drinking water," the 38-year-old lumberyard operator explained.

Pearlman has been living on such meager fare since last Monday when he forsook his home and family for a 21-day solitary crash diet aboard his 35-foot cabin cruiser anchored a few hundred yards off shore in Huntington Bay. He set out on the dietary sea saga when everything he tried failed to trim his ponderous frame, 245 to 260 he feels he must attain to keep healthy.

"I'm doing great, just great," he said in a ship-to-shore telephone interview. "I've already lost about 12 pounds and I feel great."

He said his personal physician had examined him aboard ship last Thursday and found him in good physical condition. His wife and their two children also visited with him the same day.

Had he thought at all about cheating the last bit on the rigid diet?

"Not once," he snapped. "Anyway, if I wanted to cheat, I'd have to leave the ship. There just isn't anything on board to eat."

Pearlman said he sleeps, reads or just lies around taking it easy. Asked her feelings on the diet, Mrs. Pearlman said: "He's tried everything else without success, why not this, so long as his doctor permits it?"

A Help For Astronaut In Space

Canada Policy Airing, Pearson Vote Tests Due

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada's House of Commons begins a week of policy debate Monday which almost certainly will see opposition parties move one or more no-confidence votes against Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson's Liberal government.

Former Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker will lead off the debate on last Thursday's speech from the throne and he is believed ready to introduce the first of the test motions.

Such a move would have to win the support of the two smaller parties, however, in order to succeed in toppling the government. This is not considered likely.

One of the big issues of the debate is expected to be the government's decision to accept nuclear weapons both in Canada and for its Atlantic alliance units in Europe. This has special significance because Canada is playing host this week to the spring ministerial meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization council.

Diplomats already are assembling for the three-day meeting, which opens Wednesday. Pearson and his foreign secretary, Paul Martin, will be dividing their time between the debate in Parliament and the discussions on a proposed new interallied command to deal with NATO's nuclear units.

Pearson has promised to make a statement to Parliament on his government's nuclear policy and has indicated he would dare the opposition to force a new election on the nuclear issue.

Sukarno Made Life President

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — President Sukarno has been made Indonesia's chief of state for life by decision of the People's Consultative Congress meeting in Bandung, Jakarta radio reported Sunday.

The broadcast said Sukarno will attend a Congress meeting Monday to accept the decision.

Sukarno, who will be 62 next month, has been president of Indonesia—the world's fifth largest nation—since the birth of the republic in 1945. The proposal to make him president for life was approved unanimously Saturday night, Jakarta radio said.

The Congress, which has more than 600 members, was appointed by Sukarno. It is the highest state institution, to which the chief of state is responsible.

The proposal for lifelong presidency was proposed last week by the three-million-member Central Trade Federation.

No constitutional changes were made by the Congress. Under the 1945 constitution, the Congress is supposed to elect a president every five years.

43,707 Arrested

LA PLATA, Argentina (AP) — Provincial police cracked down hard on the underworld in this city and other areas of greater Buenos Aires in predawn raids Sunday. A task force of 5,200 police brought in 43,707 persons for questioning.

JFK Jet Sets Speed Record To Moscow

Flight Is Answer To Russian Taunts

MOSCOW (AP) — President Kennedy's jet airliner streaked into Moscow on Sunday to set a nonstop flight from Washington.

The 5,004-mile flight took 8 hours, 38 minutes and 42 seconds and it answered a Soviet claim that the United States had no aircraft capable of flying nonstop to Moscow.

The U.S. Embassy said the plane flown by Kennedy's personal pilot, Col. James B. Swindal, 46, of Birmingham, Ala., averaged 580 miles an hour and set a total of 15 records en route.

Swindal said the only other nonstop Washington-Moscow flight he knew of was made some time ago by a Soviet turboprop transport in about 12 hours. The Russians use the TU114 for long air hops, such as on their air route between Moscow and Havana.

Kennedy's plane is a Boeing 707 equipped with fan jets, which provide more power than standard jet engines.

It landed at Moscow's Sheremetyevo Airport in sunny weather at 1:08 p.m. Moscow time. It had left Dulles International Airport near Washington at 9:29 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time, on Saturday after flying the President from Washington to Nashville, Tenn., Huntsville, Ala., and back to Washington.

From here the plane will fly to Cape Canaveral, Fla., to take astronaut Gordon Cooper to Washington on Tuesday.

In three days of flying, the plane will have covered 12,800 miles. Although Swindal is in command, there are other pilots in the crew to take over the controls. Swindal reported no problems on the flight to Moscow.

"It was a smooth flight—no trouble," he said. "We had fairly good tailwinds."

As is customary on flights into the U.S.S.R., the plane carried a Soviet navigator and pilot. Swindal said they were "very friendly."

But another crew member said they were more impressed with the food served on board than the plane.

"They seemed very surprised at the size of the steaks we gave them," he said. "They were trying to figure out how many kilos the steaks weighed." A kilo is 2.2 pounds.

The chief purpose of the flight was to fly Glenn T. Seaborg, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, and nine other U.S. officials on an exchange visit to the Soviet Union.

But the White House announced that the presidential jet aimed to establish a Washington-Moscow speed record.

Security Tightened In Wake Of Bombings

MONTREAL (UPI) — Six thousand Montreal police swung into action Sunday in a determined bid to stamp out terrorism in the wake of recent bombings.

In Ottawa, police tightened security measures around delegates to this week's NATO ministerial meeting after the terrorist Quebec Liberation Front threatened to bomb hotels housing the diplomats.

Powell Urges Negroes Extend Demonstrations

ENGLEWOOD, N.J. (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., urged Negroes Sunday to step up their demonstrations against racial segregation.

At the same time, Negro leaders announced that a sit-in by unregistered Negro children at the predominantly white Cleveland Elementary School would be extended Monday to two other schools.

In a fiery, half-hour speech to an estimated 2,500 persons, most of them Negroes, in Mackay Park, Powell unleashed a barrage of criticism at what he called "black Uncle Toms" — the greatest enemy of the black man — and at U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, whom he termed a "phony liberal."

Powell exhorted "upper-class Negroes and poor Negroes" to "march together" and "stand with your hands together and move forward."

He said that since "Negro goals aren't in reach of the courts of law any more" Negroes must "get together and do things together."

The Negro congressman called on Englewood parents to step up their integration efforts at the city's three predominantly white schools — Cleveland, Qaries and Roosevelt.

Four Children Perish In Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four children were burned to death and three others were rescued by their father when a two-alarm fire swept through a brick and frame house in northeast Washington Sunday.

Dead in charred upstairs bedrooms were John Nicholas Cobb, 2, Sylvia, 3, Lorraine, 4, and Iris Jean, 4 months. Three older children, Russell, 5, Cynthia, 6 and James Jr., 7, were rescued by their father who passed them from the second floor to his brother on the ground.

Both James Cobb, 28, and his brother, John, were overcome by smoke and fell from the second floor of the house to the ground.

He also noted, somewhat dryly, that he thought the fireball "was somewhat close." This fireball is caused by a re-entry temperature

Kremlin Sees Red China Dogmatism No. 1 Threat

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda suggested Sunday the Kremlin has changed its mind on what constitutes the greatest danger to world communism: Red Chinese dogmatism and sectarianism rather than Yugoslav revisionism.

Roughly translated, this may mean Kremlin leaders have decided that the somewhat independent course of President Tito's Yugoslav brand of communism isn't so bad as Red China's stand that Communists should set off violent revolutions to attain world supremacy.

Up until recently, the revisionism of Tito has been branded the main danger to world communism. But Premier Khrushchev and Tito—called a traitor by Red China—smoothed over their differences in December and re-es-

Space Hero Makes Feat Sound Easy

Thousands Cheer 'Gordo' On Return To Cape Canaveral

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Astronaut Gordon Cooper, cool space explorer, was welcomed home Sunday by a cheering, flag-waving crowd and then held a news conference which made orbital flight sound easy.

In his drawling Oklahoma accent, the Teumseh boy with the strong chin concluded that his 22-orbit spin around the world was a "very pleasant mode of flight."

He had arrived by slow, 600-mile-an-hour jet from Honolulu at 10:04 a.m. with his wife, Trudy, and his two daughters, Camala, 14, and Janita, 13. Honolulu was a seven-hour ball, with flowers flying like confetti.

After a medical examination and scientific debriefing, he went to lunch and then drove seven miles to the news conference along a route lined by a huge crowd, including space-helmeted children waving American flags.

There were yells of "Well done, Gordo" and, "Hi, Gordo." It was one of the largest crowds ever in the history of this Florida sand-spit — a garish frontier town of space age.

"Flew" Spacecraft In
At the news conference, Cooper told of his sticky landing problems on re-entry into the earth's atmosphere after part of his automatic control system had failed. He made it sound about as casual as landing a putt-putt airplane in a light wind.

In any case, it shortly became clear that Cooper brought his spacecraft "Faith 7," back to earth with enormous skill using manual controls. In effect, he "flew" it in.

With the aid of a windup, mechanical notebook, Cooper told of his flight practically on an orbit-by-orbit basis for the full 34 hours and 20 minutes of flight.

With considerable logic he started his account at the beginning, observing that right after liftoff, "I felt as if I was on the point of a needle being put right on the target."

He had his version of the mystery of the "fireflies" originally reported by astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. He said the greenish, snow-like flakes were caused by the discharge of his attitude control jets.

When asked what he could see of the Communist mainland China and how it looked, he replied: "It looks just like it looks on the map."

Could See Stars In Daylight

While his wife and daughters sat proudly in the audience, the 36-year-old Air Force major also reported he could see stars of high magnitude in daylight — an invaluable aid to future astronauts traveling in the solar system.

In dropping a satellite bearing a flashing light while in flight, Cooper reported he could see the xenon gas lamp only in darkness. Early in the flight he said he cut off the coolant in the cabin of the spacecraft and noticed no change in his comfort and that he did not turn it back on until he was ready for re-entry.

Commenting on his re-entry, Cooper said the operation was "easier in the first portion" than he had expected since his automatic controls were out.

His most alarming moment came when one of the straps on the braking rockets, which had gone off "with a real strong thump," fell across his window. "It turned red hot, white hot, then broke into pieces and burned and went floating off."

He also noted, somewhat dryly, that he thought the fireball "was somewhat close." This fireball is caused by a re-entry temperature

Soviet Tactics Explode Popular Ideas Of Spying

NEW YORK (AP) — Testimony by a parade of 17 FBI agents has unfolded in federal court a tale of international espionage that might rival a cloak-and-dagger spy thriller.

Up to a point. An American sailor is on trial on charges of selling military secrets to Soviet diplomats. His lawyer is scheduled to begin the defense Monday.

FBI testimony last week disclosed some of its counterspy methods, including surveillance by closed-circuit television, as well as the sailor's signed statement on how the spying was done.

But was it all stealth, secret rendezvous and disguise?

Not quite. FBI agents testified that the defendant, Yeoman I.C. Nelson C. Drummond, 33, of Baltimore, walked in the front door of the Soviet United Nations mission office on Park Avenue at least three times and probably more.

In fact, Drummond related he was given a $1,000 bonus to stay away from the place, an agent said.

Were the secret documents carefully selected? An FBI agent testified that Drummond usually dipped into a file in his office and brought out a fistful of papers "in grab-bag fashion."

Was the money used for lavish living in exotic cities or perhaps salted away for a spree later on?

The FBI said Drummond bought a bar and grill in Newport, R.I.—just a few miles from the naval base where he was stationed.

The Russians apparently did try to maintain some of the traditional standards of espionage.

Drummond told the FBI that when he was transferred to Newport from London, where he said he was first approached in 1958, he was contacted on a street, given $140, a black bag and one of a pair of matching cufflinks with a horsehead design.

He was told to walk south on Eighth Avenue from 125th Street on the first Saturday of the month after his arrival in New York. He was told the answer, "Yes, I will show you the way," to the person who asked him, "Can you show me the way to the Savon Ballroom?"

Drummond told the FBI he met his contact, exchanged passwords and matched cufflinks. The rendezvous apparently was made in Harlem because Drummond is a Negro.

He said arrangements were made that he would receive $400 to $500 a month. He also was paid bonuses of $1,000, $4,000 and $6,000 for which he claimed he "did nothing special," according to FBI agents. Their testimony indicated that the payments may have totaled $48,200 over four years.

The FBI said Drummond was first approached on a street near his residence in London by a man who said he had heard that Drummond was short of money. It was testified that Drummond took $700 and gave the stranger a signed receipt. Then the monthly meetings started.

Drummond was arrested last Sept. 28 while sitting in his parked car near a diner in Larchmont, a suburb of New York City. FBI agents testified that a few hours earlier they had watched from hiding while Drummond slipped secret naval papers from a file in the naval base office where he worked. Two of the agents were watching on closed-circuit television equipment.

They shadowed him to the Larchmont diner where he was met in the parking lot by two Soviet diplomats. The FBI said they closed in and arrested him as he handed over the documents to the Russians.

Drummond, who is married, faces a possible death sentence if convicted. He joined the Navy 16 years ago.

Soviet Recalls 300 Top Agents

NEW YORK (AP)—The Soviet Union, "shaken up" over Western penetration of its intelligence system, has recalled to Moscow at least 300 of its top operatives stationed throughout the world, the New York Herald Tribune said Sunday.

The newspaper, in a Washington dispatch by James E. Warner, said: "Apparently every Russian attaché or civilian intelligence employee who had any contact at any time anywhere in the world with Col. Vladimir F. Penkovsky, executed last week as a traitor in the latest Moscow spy case, has been summoned home."

"There is little doubt that the colonel, a top man in Soviet intelligence, was in fact a double agent dealing with the West, as the Russians themselves charged."

Warner wrote that the information was obtained "from sources both here and abroad which cannot be named, but which are considered unimpeachable in the shadowy world of intelligence and counterintelligence."

Settlement Brings Racial Calm To Cambridge, Md.

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — Racial calm has been restored to this Eastern Shore city, but leaders now face the task of implementing the settlement that brought the calm.

A week of demonstrations by Cambridge Negroes ended Saturday when a group of prominent Cambridge citizens said they would try to help gain the racial reforms asked by Negro leaders.

Integrationists had asked for complete integration of Cambridge restaurants, more rapid school integration and improvements in housing, employment opportunities and law enforcement.

"We have no reservations in saying we think what they ask is reasonable and what they are entitled to have," said Chief Judge W. Laird Henry Jr. of Maryland's 1st Judicial Circuit.

Judge Laird set up the meeting of white businessmen and lawyers who considered the integrationists' demands. He said after the settlement had been announced that the group "was not all-powerful and could not go to this man or that man and say do this or that."

"We don't expect to give orders. We have no right to give orders. But we can plead, and I expect to plead to these segregationists to go along with the very reasonable and rightful requests that the integrationists are making."

One immediate result came from the agreement when all demonstrators were released from the Indians Vote With Religion Major Factor

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Voters cast ballots in two parliamentary by-elections Sunday after campaigns which have exposed an evil at the heart of Indian democracy.

The contest will be decided mainly on the basis of the religion of the voters and the candidates and their place in the Hindu caste system.

The Congress party of Prime Minister Nehru, who denounced traditional thinking along religious and caste lines as a negation of democracy, has taken a lead in exploiting traditional prejudices.

In one by-election Nehru appealed to voters to support his party candidate "to strengthen Congress ideals." The Indian press has expressed opinions that Congress and other parties have compromised these ideals in the elections.

There has been some discussion of national issues, though no local ones. What counts is religion and narrow caste loyalties.

Despite efforts by Mohandas K. Gandhi and others, the rural masses still consider themselves as belonging to a particular group. Parties usually nominate a candidate from the subcaste that is the largest in the constituency. Power struggles within Congress parties at state levels usually are along caste lines.

In the background is India's bloody history of religious violence, especially clashes between Hindus and Moslems and Sikhs that took perhaps a million lives in 1947 and the many smaller clashes that have torn villages apart since then. India now is trying to live down this past but the by-elections opened old wounds.

ECM Nations Spurn U.S. Tariff Cut Plan

GENEVA (AP)—The European Common Market nations Sunday rejected U.S. proposals to attack world trade barriers through sweeping, across-the-board tariff reductions, a Common Market source reported.

The Common Market nations—France, West Germany, Belgium, Italy, the Netherlands and Luxembourg—decided to insist that the United States give selective treatment to U.S. tariffs that the European nations consider abnormally high.

The deadlock threatened to delay the start of bargaining sessions.

Tuesday Wheat Vote To Climax Hot Campaign

CHICAGO (AP) — Tuesday's farmer referendum on whether to adopt a tighter wheat crop control program will settle one of the sharpest battles ever waged for growers' votes.

At stake is the Kennedy administration's proposal for a 1964 acreage allotment program which could cut plantings by 10 per cent, establish a two-price support system and sharpen enforcement provisions.

The Department of Agriculture estimates that more than 1½ million farmers are eligible to vote. The program requires a two-thirds majority for approval.

The goal of the government control program is to bring about a substantial reduction in surplus production of wheat, a chronic problem of plenty with requires vast, costly storage and threatens the price of wheat.

The government's wheat control program, which provides a guaranteed floor for prices paid to growers, cost more than $1 billion in federal funds last year.

The proposed 1964 regulations are strongly opposed by the American Farm Bureau Federation, largest and most powerful of the farm organizations.

Arrayed in favor of the program with the government are the National Grange, the National Farmers Union and the National Farmers Organization.

Both camps have done strenuous electioneering among the wheat growers. The federation's president, Charles H. Shuman, argues that the program gives the secretary of agriculture too much control over farming, won't work any better than controls have in the past, and opens the door for similar government clampdowns on other producing areas such as livestock and dairy products.

Those who are pressing for passage predict that a negative vote would zoom production and drop the government support level from $2 to $1 a bushel with disastrous results to the 600,000 large growers.

For the first time, a significant factor in this year's referendum is the eligibility of growers raising fewer than 15 acres of wheat—around one million of them.

Passage by Congress last week of a two-year extension of the government's feed grains support program might influence Tuesday's vote toward acceptance of the wheat proposal because it indicates the pattern of modest support which could follow rejection.

The proposal being weighed would reduce the 1964 crop acreage from 55 million to 49½ million acres. Eighty per cent of the crop of every producer would go for domestic food use under a price guarantee of $2. The remainder, for livestock feed and other non-food uses would be supported at $1.30 a bushel.

In addition, a farmer who retires a portion of his former wheat acreage allotment from production would be paid by the government. Violation of the regulations would subject offenders to a fine or a jail sentence.

of some 3,000 degrees on the blunt, heatshield end of the capsule.

Cooper said that just about the time he was inserted into orbit he noticed his rocket booster trailing him "and it was close enough to reach out and touch. I could read the writing on the side."

He said the booster dropped slowly and he "snapped off a few pictures with the East Coast of the United States in the background."

Cooper reported that he picked up hi-fi music once and news broadcasts twice, one of which mentioned his name. He said he could not identify the languages through one sounded to him like Russian.

His major problem for the next several days is going to be the matter of staying "go condition."

Tuesday he will receive the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Distinguished Service Medal from President Kennedy at a ceremony in the White House rose garden.

Then he, like Glenn, is going to address a joint meeting of Congress.

Four Deaths Up State's 1963 Traffic Toll To 214

By The Associated Press
Four weekend deaths raised Maryland's 1963 traffic fatality count to 214, compared with 176 a year ago.

John Talmadge, 19, of Middle River, was killed Sunday morning when his car ran off Vincent Road in Baltimore County and struck a tree.

Talmadge, the only occupant in the car, was pronounced dead on arrival at City Hospital.

Three persons died Saturday in traffic accidents. Edward Loomis, 58, of Bel Air was killed when he was struck by a car while crossing Maryland 1 in Baltimore County, about one-half mile from the Harford County line.

Percy Albert, 64, of Big Springs, was killed when his car ran off U.S. 40 in Washington County, swerved back onto the highway, crossed the center line and side-swiped another car.

The accident occurred about three miles east of Clear Spring. Wallace Alvin Stewart, 29, of Baltimore was killed in a flaming two-car crash just off the Bay Bridge. State Police said a car coming off the bridge swerved into the westbound lane and crashed head-on into Stewart's which then burst into flames.

Three of four persons in the other car were taken to Anne Arundel General Hospital in serious condition.

Office Of Consumer Bills To Be Offered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., announced Sunday he and Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., would jointly introduce Senate and House bills on Wednesday to establish an independent Office of Consumers.

Kefauver said in a statement that Senate leaders had "graciously granted sufficient time on Wednesday not only to permit adequate discussion of this bill, but of other consumer-directed measures as well."

Slavs Seek Asylum

NUERNBERG, Germany (UPI) — Approximately 80 Yugoslav citizens allowed to leave their country to attend a trade fair in Munich have asked for political asylum in West Germany, police reported Sunday. The latest group comprised 70 who arrived in a special bus. Most skipped the fair and went straight to the Zirndorf refugee camp to ask for asylum.

Berlin-Bound Convoy Delayed By Red Guards

BERLIN (UPI) — Soviet border guards delayed a U.S. Army convoy for three hours and 45 minutes Sunday with a demand that the soldiers leave their vehicles to be counted.

But an American spokesman said the Army insisted on its right to pass Soviet checkpoints without having the soldiers dismount, and the convoy of 70 men in 22 trucks and jeeps eventually was permitted to pass.

There was no indication why the Soviets resorted once more to their harrying tactics in delaying the convoy.

The Berlin-bound convoy was held up two hours at the Marienberg checkpoint on the West German end of the 110-mile highway to Berlin, and for another hour and 45 minutes at the Babelsberg checkpoint at the Berlin end of the highway.

The convoy that was held up was the fourth of five convoys that came to Berlin during the day.

The other convoys passed the Soviet checkpoints without difficulty, in an average time of five to nine minutes, the spokesman said.

ALGERS (UPI) — The executive committee of the International Students Union voted Monday to send a telegram to President Kennedy expressing "indignation and protest" over racial troubles in Birmingham, Ala.

Maryland Briefs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. Glenn Beall, R-Md., has urged Maryland farmers to reject the proposed wheat control program in Tuesday's nation wide referendum.

In his weekly newsletter, Beall said the program is just a "foot in the door" to government control of the nation's farmers. The new program calls for marketing quotas, rather than just acreage allotments, and cash fines for farmers who violate regulations.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Maryland Disaster Committee of the U.S. Department of Agriculture has decided to ask Gov. Tawes and Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman to allow farmers to cut hay from the conservation reserve, feed grain and wheat stabilization areas.

The action was prompted by the severe shortages of pastures and livestock feeds caused by a five-week drought this spring.

ABERDEEN, Md. (AP) — The biggest program for Armed Forces Day Saturday was held at Aberdeen Proving Grounds which opened its gates to the public for exhibits, demonstrations and an air show by the Maryland National Guard.

Rain caused the cancellation of the morning air show, but the afternoon show began on schedule with a crowd of several thousand watching the aerial display and demonstration of old and new army equipment.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson will be the main speaker at commencement exercises at the University of Maryland June 8.

Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, university president, will confer degrees on some 3,000 graduates.

About 12,500 parents, friends, faculty and alumni are expected to attend the two-hour ceremony in the Cole Activities Building on the College Park campus.

GOP Chairman Triggers New Cuba Policy Ruckus

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican National Chairman William E. Miller kicked up a new States ruckus over the administration's Cuban policy Sunday by asking whether President Kennedy plans to abandon the U. S. Naval Base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

The New York congressman also quoted news reports as saying that "fresh intelligence" had been received that the Soviets were building a heavily armed naval base at Banes on the northeastern tip of Cuba. He called on the President to say whether these reports were true.

Senate Democratic Whip Hubert H. Humphrey, Minn., promptly accused Miller of circulating "simple, mischievous nonsense, without any foundation whatsoever."

Miller said he did not know whether there was any substance to the Guantanamo reports. Humphrey said the GOP chairman was engaging in "monkey business and shenanigans to spread doubt and confusion when he has no facts."

Other developments: —Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, said on a radio program (Reporters Roundup—MBS) the administration seems to be "marking time" on getting Soviet troops out of Cuba. He said this would be a dereliction of duty if marking time were not part of a definite program for solving the Cuban problem.

—Chester A. Bowles, newly confirmed U.S. ambassador to India, said the United States would have no alternative but to act "vigorously" if Haiti were to seek aid from Cuba or Russia. Bowles, former undersecretary of state, said on a television program with Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., that "we don't want any more Cubas."

Miller said in his statement that Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, on May 8 "put forward what may well be an administration trial balloon when he recommended that under certain conditions Guantanamo should be abandoned."

John Glenn Given Big Tokyo Welcome

TOKYO (UPI) — American astronaut John Glenn received an enthusiastic welcome when he arrived in Tokyo Sunday for a "vacation" that had all the earmarks of a semi-official state visit.

Glenn, the first American spaceman to tour a foreign country, wound up his duties as a communicator for astronaut Gordon Cooper's 22-orbit flight last week.

Then he went ashore at Nagasaki from the U. S. Navy vessel Coastal Sentry, flew into Tokyo International Airport, and was greeted by his wife and two children, U. S. Ambassador Edwin O. Reischauer and a crowd of 1,000 persons.

The U. S. Embassy officially is calling Glenn's 12-day stay here a "vacation." However, he will be traveling around Japan on a schedule usually reserved only for high-ranking foreign dignitaries.

The Glenns start their first day Monday with a courtesy call on Japanese Crown Prince Akihito at his official Tokyo residence.

A Vote For The Public Health

Tooth decay is the most prevalent chronic ailment in the United States. Of the many ways to fight it, perhaps the most promising is through fluoridation of public water supplies. Cumberland residents of voting age will have their chance to do that tomorrow. They can pull Lever No. 2 on voting machines set up for the special election.

Of America's 12 largest cities, only New York and Los Angeles have not fluoridated their water supplies, and New York decided last month to do so as soon as possible. More than 2,300 communities with a total of more than 43,000,000 residents now have fluoridated water.

In Maryland, the State Department of Health reports that about 90 per cent of all users of public water supplies already are drinking water to which controlled amounts of fluorine have been added. Several communities have water in which sufficient quantities of fluorides occur naturally.

Most of the opposition to fluoridation has centered on certain irresponsible charges, that fluorine is a poison, that fluoridation is mass medication, and that fluorine corrodes plumbing, kills goldfish and shortens the human life span.

All of these charges are absurd. As to the charge that fluorine is a "poison," it is a member of a family of chemicals called the halogens. Chlorine, iodine and bromine are the other members. All are medically valuable, and all can be toxic if improperly used. So can common salt. In the recommended proportion of one part of fluorine per million parts of water, fluorine is certainly not poisonous. The U. S. Public Health Service, the State Department of Health, the American and State Medical Associations and the American and State Dental Associations all urge its use.

Fluoridation is not mass medication. Fluorine is not medicine. It cannot cure tooth decay. Its presence helps to prevent tooth decay. It occurs naturally in a great deal of the earth's water. This is how its benefits were discovered. It has been observed, over and over, that people who drink water in which fluorides occur naturally have fewer dental cavities than persons living in areas where water has insufficient fluorine. The fluorine added to water supplies is chemically the same as "natural" fluorides.

Fluorine does not corrode plumbing. The American Water Works Association backs this up. Neither is there any evidence that fluoridated water kills goldfish.

Fluorine not only does not shorten the life span, but it may even be of benefit to older persons. Dr. Fred Stare, head of the Department of Nutrition in the School of Public Health at Harvard University, reported just last month that recent surveys have shown that persons living in areas where the water is fluoridated have stronger bones and suffer fewer fractures than people who live elsewhere.

The evidence is overwhelmingly in favor of fluoridation. Those who want Cumberland to join the ranks of modern cities where the health of the people is considered important will pull Lever No. 2 in tomorrow's election, to cast their vote against the proposed charter amendment which would prohibit fluoridation.

These Days

Beware The Blurred Edge

Now that Nelson Rockefeller has weakened himself as a Presidential possibility, there is a frantic scramble in Republican politics. And the scramble reveals an old pattern: the so-called liberal Republicans are looking for an imprecise candidate in order to beat a precise candidate in the national convention. To head off a precise Goldwater, they are talking about a Romney or a Scranton, whose opinions on a great many subjects have not yet been nailed down. The fuzzy man is supposed to be better than the man of hard outlines.

However, in looking for imprecision to beat precision, the Republicans are pursuing a mirage. For the history of American politics since the Nineteen Thirties proves that the man of definition always wins over the man of fuzzy edges on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November. The victories of Ike Eisenhower do not disprove the point, for Ike's opponent, Adlai Stevenson, was always more imprecise than the General.

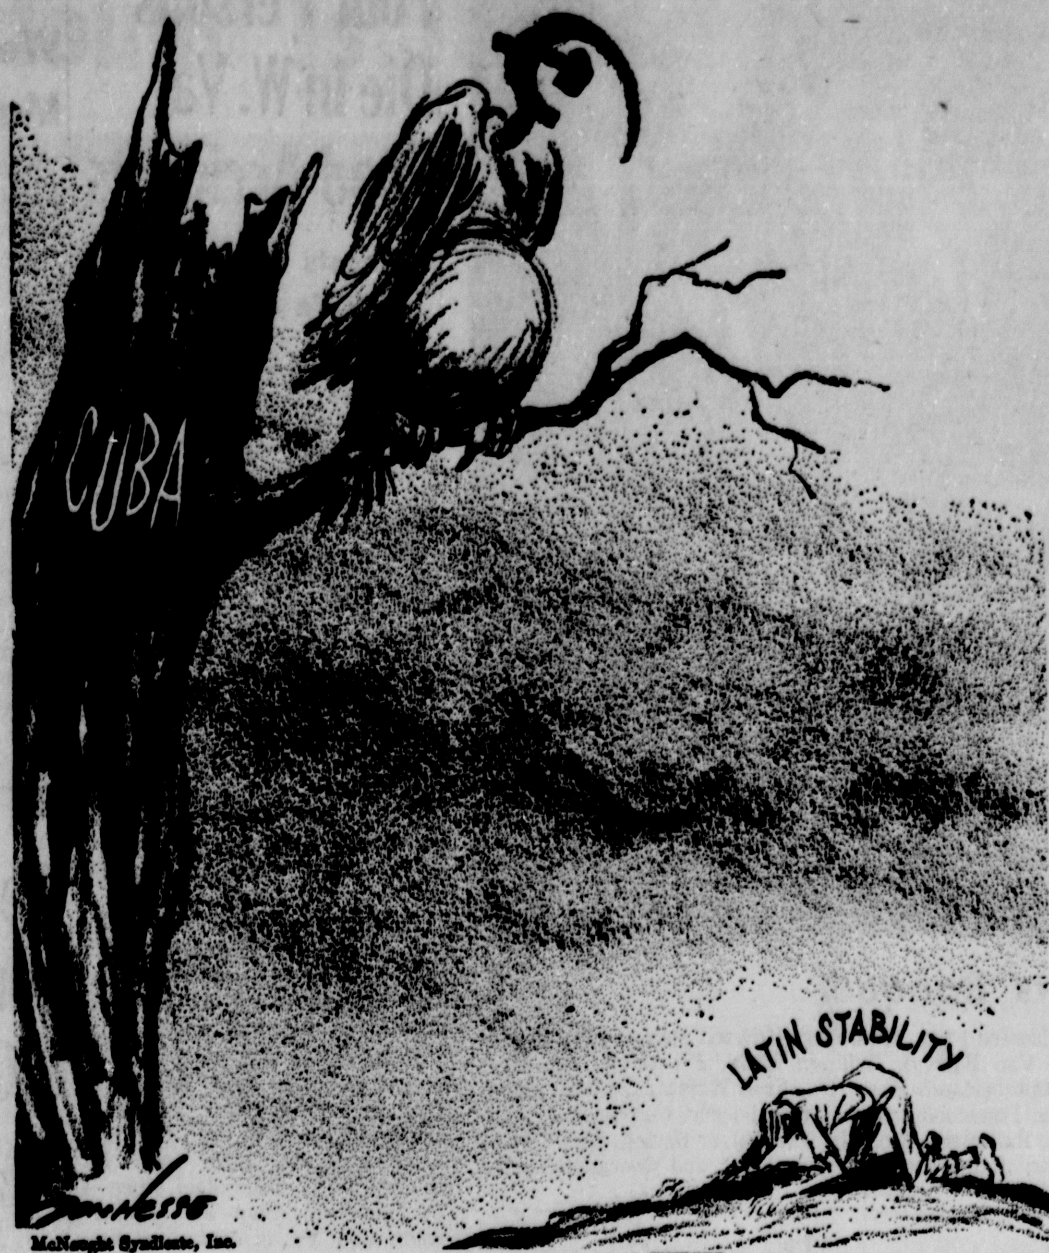

Franklin Roosevelt, who gave the Democrats their great Twentieth Century winning streak, was not by nature a precise man, but he had sufficient political instinct to know that when you go after a person it is good politics to be on the level with him. The Democratic strategy under Roosevelt and Jim Farley and Louis Howe was to make specific appeals to specific groups, and then trust that the sum total would add up to victory. You promised something definite to labor, something definite to farmers, something definite to intellectuals—and when the voting machines turned in a result that was as precise as anything that comes out of an I.B.M. computer you smiled the satisfied smile of the Cheshire cat.

The exaltation of imprecision over cold addition recently encouraged Amintore Fanfani in Italy to blur the edges of the Christian Democratic Party in hopes of picking up support on the Left. But the "opening to the Left" backfired: the Fanfani party lost ground to two parties of precision, the Communists and the free trade Liberals. If the Republicans in America want to win in 1964, they had better ponder the fate of imprecise candidates not only here but elsewhere in the world.

If this column sounds like a pitch for Goldwater, who has clear opinions on everything from States' Rights to Cuba, let me say that it is not. The Republicans have other precise men whom they might tap in hopes of putting together a coalition whose members would know how they stood with the party candidate for President. Governor George Romney may have possibilities of clear definition once he gets around to explaining himself. And there is Governor Jim Rhodes of Ohio, who is giving his State a heartening example of fiscal integrity. All the Republicans need is someone who will be something in separate detail to various somebodies, in hopes that the addition of definite "somebodies" will create a winning coalition. The blurred edge, the "all things to all men" approach, has never succeeded, and it never will.

Heavy, Heavy Hangs Over The Kremlin

By Joseph Alsop

There is an old children's game called "Heavy, Heavy, What Hangs over?" in which the winner must guess what does hang over. Guessing the cause of the ferment in the Kremlin is considerably harder, but it seems a good bet that the heavy cost of modern defense is what hangs over in this instance.

In 1961-62, the Soviet marshals and their sympathizers on the Presidium not only reversed the shrink-the-army policy which Nikita S. Khrushchev had attempted to carry out. They also secured an increase in the Soviet defense budget in the staggering amount of 40 per cent, according to the Kremlin's own announcement.

It is not easy—in truth, it is close to impossible—to believe this Kremlin claim. For a very long time, open and hidden outlays on national defense have absorbed around a quarter of Soviet national income. This huge annual investment can hardly have been increased by close to half without producing the kind of economic disruption that would have been impossible to hide.

On the other hand, there is no doubt at all that the Soviet defense budget was steeply increased in 1961-62. Even a rise of 10 or 15 or 20 per cent would have been burdensome enough, in all conscience, especially when one considers that the Soviet economic growth-rate has dropped rather sharply.

The biggest factor in the 1961-62 defense increase, quite clearly, was the curiously belated Soviet decision to deploy their second generation ICBMs in large numbers. When this decision about the big rockets began to be implemented, it must be remembered, the Soviets were already deploying quite literally thousands of their high altitude, anti-aircraft SAM-2 rockets.

Hence their rocket program was already massive—and proportionately costly—when they also began to deploy the newer AA rocket, the SAM-3. This rocket is designed to fill the low altitude gap in the Soviet air defense system. Some hundreds of SAM-3s are in place by now.

Yet another considerable increase in the defense budget will almost certainly be needed, to finance a really lavish SAM-3 deployment on the SAM-2 pattern. The only alternative to spending more, overall, is to spend less on some other branch of the Soviet armed services; and Khrushchev's attempt to do precisely that, by reducing the swollen Soviet ground forces, met defeat by the Defense Ministry's massed phalanx of marshals and colonel-generals in 1961.

The SAM-3s are by no means the end of the story, however. Just as the U. S. Army is pushing for immediate deployment of its primitive but workable anti-missile-missile, the Nike-Zeus, so the Soviet Defense Ministry is quite certainly also pushing for immediate deployment of the reportedly comparable Soviet anti-missile-missile.

ANDERSON FIRING

The firing of Adm. George W. Anderson as Chief of Naval Operations has shaken the Pentagon in a manner that top military brass there never believed would happen.

No one in the Pentagon, or for that matter in official Washington, accepts the public explanation of why he was dropped from his post at the end of his first two-year term when it has been customary to give each CNO and, for that matter the other Joint Chiefs of Staff, a second two-year appointment.

The official reason given is that the administration desires there should be only one two-year term except in extraordinary circumstances in order to spread the experience among more of the nation's top military officers.

Anderson has been a critic of Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's decision on which of two rival companies should be awarded the extremely lucrative TFX airplane contract. At the Pentagon, all echelons of the military are completely convinced that Anderson was dropped because of this opposition.

This is precisely the reasoning that has the brass in a turmoil. They interpret the action as a clear warning to stay in line with official administration military and defense policies or risk suffering a similar fate.

They're smarting under this kind of threat of reprisals and there's a lot of talk about being unable to fulfill their obligations to Congress and the country if they must endorse policy decision with which they disagree.

These military leaders sincerely believe it is their function to comment on defense policy fully and frankly, even though they are agreed that their role is to carry out policy, not make it.

McNamara happens to be an extremely able and intelligent Secretary of Defense. But some of these military leaders ask: "Should we be put in a position where we must stand silent when our experience tells us a bad decision is being made, perhaps at some future time and by some future someone future secretary who may not be so bright?"

Breakthrough In Parkinsonism May Be Near

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

Vigorous research has brought new hope to victims of parkinsonism (shaking palsy). Promising reports have appeared on the causes and results of early treatment. Cure is not possible but the breakthrough may not be too far in the future.

There are three forms. The first is an aftermath of encephalitis and develops months to decades after recovery from this brain infection. The second and more common type is the degenerative, due to hardening of the arteries; it is becoming more frequent now that more and more people live longer. The third variety is found in persons between 50 and 60 years old. It begins for no apparent reason and is a real challenge to physiologists and research physiologists and chemists.

The tremor and muscular stiffness that these men and women develop follow changes in certain cells located in a small center deep in the brain. When neurological surgeons destroy these pea-sized areas, tremor disappears and the muscles relax. Possible causes of these changes include carbon monoxide, manganese, and other toxins as well as certain infections and hardening of the arteries. Heredity is thought to play a role.

Most of us are familiar with the syndrome after it is well established. The typical example is the older man with marked tremor of the head, fingers, hands, and arms, who is stooped and walks with a shuffling gait. All of his actions are slow because the muscles are stiff. In addition, he has a staring or fixed expression to the face. He is not paralyzed, nor is his intelligence impaired, even though he has difficulty with speech and writing.

All diseases have to start some time and parkinsonism usually begins slowly. A slight tremor of the thumb or index finger of one hand may be the initial manifestation.

Despite our lack of knowledge of the cause, we know the condition should not be neglected in the early stages. Muscles degenerate when not used, whereas activity and physical therapy help prevent deformities from this source. Diet also is important in maintaining strength and weight. Brain surgery helps some while others obtain more benefit from drugs.

(Dr. Van Dellen will send leaflet on parkinsonism if stamped self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

you how far I throw the sickle!" "In these days of status symbolism," observed Pat Werner, "an American man anxious to command respect in his community should boast one wife, two cars, three children, four pets, five suits, six acres, seven credit cards—and be lucky if he has eight cents in his pocket."

De Gaulle Reverses His Stand Against A NATO Nuclear Force

By Jack Anderson

was Korth offended by the speech or did he merely go to the men's room?

The admirals believe they got their answer a few days later when Korth recommended that Anderson be dropped as Chief of Naval Operations. This jolted the admirals who expected Anderson not only to be reappointed but eventually to become the next chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

They re-read Anderson's speech to find out what might have irritated the Secretary of the Navy. The speech seemed harmless enough, full of noble words about the traditions of the sea. But it also called for confidence in people and respect by senior officers for their juniors.

To the sensitive civilians of the New Frontier, this could have been interpreted as a subtle slap at Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara. He has been criticized around the Pentagon for not showing proper confidence and respect for his military chiefs.

Anderson has also resisted moves by both McNamara and Korth to bring the navy under tighter civilian control.

Respect For The Military
In his luncheon speech, Anderson declared: "I do not believe I can possibly overemphasize the importance of having confidence in people. . . . We train them, we test them, we drill them, but inevitably there comes a time when we must also trust them."

On the subject of respect, he said: "I think the first principle to which we adhere is that of respect for people. I recall reading many years ago the story of a ship's captain who asked a new ensign what the proper attitude of juniors toward seniors should be."

"The ensign answered promptly, 'Respect, sir.'"

"The captain then asked, 'Now sir, what is the proper attitude of seniors toward juniors?'"

"The ensign had no ready reply, but the captain supplied it. 'The answer is exactly the same, sir, it is respect. Without respect flowing both ways between juniors and seniors, we have little hope of doing the jobs we will be called upon to do.'"

The admiral added: "Orders are issued in such a way as to tell a man what to do, but not how to do it. Each man is expected and required to exercise his initiative and responsibility so that the orders are carried out."

Around the Pentagon, some people are still wondering whether these remarks caused Korth to walk out in the middle of the Admiral's speech and contributed to his decision to get rid of Anderson.

Tour The USA

The new U. S. Travel Service, now bringing more tourists to the United States, began its advertising campaign in a very subtle way. In Italy, ads appeared in the papers featuring the picture of a pen. Under it was the caption: "With this pen you can stay at any hotel or motel in the USA."

This was followed by an ad featuring a replica of an Italian driver's license, and under it the caption: "With this you can drive anywhere in the USA."

These ads, plus other salesmanship, have begun to reverse, in some degree, the tremendous flow of American tourists to Italy. Part of that reverse flow was a group of 150 Italian workers and staff members of the Marzotta Wool Company which toured Washington last week and is now en route through North Carolina.

Count Giannino Marzotto, who heads the group, believes that his employees will do better jobs if they know something about the rest of the world, and he has largely financed this trip. The schedule was worked out by Voit Gilmore, director of the new Travel Service under Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges.

Before leaving Washington, the Italian delegation had taken lessons on American traffic regulations, hired drive-it-yourself cars, and were looking forward gleefully to their tour. After a special mass offered by the bishop of Raleigh, they are attending the North Carolina School of Textiles at Charlotte, and then noted on their program:

"In Asheville we will stop at the supermarket, go in and buy rolls and hot dogs, and then go to the Smoky Mountain National Park where we will bake and cook our own rolls and hot dogs."

From North Carolina they drive to Florida.

Marvelous Malarkey

By John Crosby

PARIS

"I never write except with a writing board. I've never had a table in my life. But I use all sorts of things. Write on the sole of my shoes." This from Robert Frost's interview in "Writers at Work." I don't believe a word of it, but it's marvelous malarkey.

Write on the sole of his shoe, my foot! Or take Ernest Hemingway, what a kiddie he was. "When I am working on a book or story I write every morning as soon after first light as possible . . . You have started at six in the morning, say, and may go on until noon." Toward the end, whole decades slipped by without Hemingway's having much writing to show for it. Up at six every morning, eh? Still, if that paragraph gets young writers out of bed at six and to work, knocking out first drafts on the bottom of their shoes, then it won't have been wasted.

I don't want to sound too sour on the second volume of "Writers at Work," culled from those interviews at the Paris Review, because the book is full of marvelous rationalization on how writers think they write. Sometimes they're kidding themselves. Sometimes the interviewer. For instance, S. J. Perelman was asked: "How many drafts of a story do you do?"

"Thirty-seven," said Mr. Perelman, I suppose with a straight face. "I once tried doing 33, but something was lacking—a certain, how shall I say it?—je ne sais quoi. On another occasion, I tried 42 versions, but the final effect was too lapidary. You know what I mean, Jack? What the hell are you trying to do—extort my trade secrets?"

That's exactly what the interviewers were doing and they extort some pretty interesting ones. Writers sometimes don't know what they're doing and frequently when they start bravely off in one direction they finish splendidly in a quite different one.

For instance, Aldous Huxley, on the subject of "Brave New World," which may be one of the most influential books ever written and is now being hailed as almost devilishly prescient, said: "Well, it started out as a parody on H. G. Wells's 'Men Like Gods,' but gradually it got out of hand and turned into something quite different from what I'd intended." Huxley, one of the most modest of writers interviewed, confessed he wasn't a congenial novelist, had great difficulty inventing plots, and wasn't very good at creating people.

But I suppose in a way this thread runs through the whole book. Most writers have great difficulty not only in inventing plots and creating people but in writing at all.

S. J. Perelman was asked if there were any devices he used to get himself going in the morning. "Just anguish," said Perelman. "Just sitting and staring at the typewriter and avoiding the issue as long as possible." It reminds me of Red Smith's formula for writing a column: you just sit at the typewriter, open your veins, and bleed a little.

Perelman on the subject of Hollywood is worth the price of the book—that is, if you are like me a connoisseur of malediction. "The mere mention of Hollywood induces a condition in me like breakbone fever. It was a hideous and untenable place when I dwelt there, populated with few exceptions by Yahoos, and now that it has become the chief citadel of television, it's unspeakable. Could we segue into some other subject?"

Fortunately the interviewer held him on Hollywood longer, bringing forth: "It strikingly resembles the Sargasso Sea—an immense, turgidly revolving whirlpool in which literary hulks encrusted with verdigris mouldered until they sank."

"Benchley viewed Hollywood with utter accuracy—as a dreary industrial town, controlled by hoodlums of enormous wealth, the ethical sense of a pack of jackals, and taste so degraded that it befouled everything it touched. I don't mean to sound like a boy Savonarola, but there were times when I drove along the Sunset Strip and looked at those buildings or when I looked at the fashionable film colony arriving at some premiere at Grauman's Egyptian that I fully expected God in his wrath to obliterate the whole shebang."

Then why did he stay there 12 years?

"The answer, of course, was gettous—gelt—scratch. We all badly needed the universal lubricant. We all had dependents and insurance policies and all the characters who ran the celluloid factories were willing to lay it on the line. After all, it was no worse than playing piano in a bordello."

Reminds me of the time some gushy dame asked Arnold Bennett what mystic force drive him to write his masterpiece, "The Old Wives Tale."

"I needed the money," said Bennett.

Potomac State Instructors Are Honored

Are Marking 25th Year At College

KEYSER — Miss Mary Fravel Shipper and David Graham Nuzum, who are marking their 25th year as members of the faculty at Potomac State College, were honored Saturday night by the Faculty Club at a dinner in the Ali Ghan Shrine Club, Cumberland.

The principal address was given by President E. E. Church who paid tribute to both for their loyalty, devotion, and service to the school, the community, and all mankind through the past quarter-century.

He also stressed the importance of education in the world of today, adding the success of such lies not only in facts from books but also in the development of boys and girls into wholesome and moral ladies and gentlemen.

He added that learning must be continuous, that we must have quality in quantity, and that the challenge before us is for more excellence.

Toastmaster was Prof. Ervin L. Dayton. Dr. Nancy M. Miller gave the invocation and the welcome was extended by Oscar R. Gustafson, president of the Faculty Club.

Speaking on behalf of Dean K. S. McKee, who is recuperating from major surgery in the West Virginia University Medical Center, President Church paid a personal tribute to Nuzum in an original poem entitled, "Words, Words, Words." Coach Dana G. Lough bestowed the faculty's congratulations to Miss Shipper in a speech which he entitled "First Lady of the Books."

Dr. Church presented gifts to both, assisted by his secretary, Mrs. Gertrude Stanhagen. A testimonial to Miss Shipper and Nuzum was given by Thomas J. Conlon, president of the Potomac State College Alumni Association, on behalf of the school's former students and the goodnight was given by the toastmaster in a resume, "Closing the Chapter Files for '63."

Among the guests were Mrs. Margaret M. Atwater, mother of Dr. Elizabeth A. Atwater, of the faculty; Mrs. J. H. Nuzum, mother of David Nuzum; his aunt, Miss Nellie Cost, both of Shinnston; and his brothers, Charles R. Nuzum, Cumberland, and Robert Nuzum, Charleston, W. Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Shipper, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Shipper, brothers of Miss Mary Shipper; and her niece, Miss Ann Shipper, all of Martinsburg.

Mrs. Mary Evelyn Coffman, director of alumni affairs; Mrs. David Young, whose husband was formerly with the ROTC at Potomac State College and until his assignment in Germany was a member of the dinner committee; Mrs. Lough, Mrs. Church, Mrs. Nuzum, Mrs. Dayton, Mrs. Gustafson, and Mrs. Dudley Gordon, of Pittsburgh. Both faculty and staff members, as well as their wives or husbands, were present.

The dinner committee consisted of Norman E. Rodgers, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Rodgers, Ervin L. Dayton, Deane McKee, J. Kenna Burke, Dr. Miller, Mrs. Stanhagen, and Sgt. Young.

Miss Shipper and Nuzum join a group of six who have marked 25 years or more at the local college—Coach Lough, Mrs. Stanhagen, Dr. Church, Dean McKee, Prof. Dayton, and Dr. Miller.

Man Is Drowned In Elk River

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A 21-year-old Kanawha County man drowned Saturday night in the Elk River at nearby Elkview after jumping from a rope swing into shallow water.

Authorities identified the victim as Roger Robertson of nearby Blue Creek and said he apparently suffered a broken neck and drowned after falling onto a hidden sand bar under about 18 inches of water.

He was swimming with companions when he used a rope hanging from a tree to swing himself out over the water. Witnesses said Robertson came to the surface once, then disappeared. The body was recovered about two hours later.

Four Persons Die In W. Va. Road Accidents

Boosts Highway Toll To 120

By United Press International
Weekend traffic accidents claimed at least four lives in West Virginia while two other state residents died in a collision just across the Ohio River near Gallipolis, Ohio.

Three of the victims were teenagers, including two killed in a single accident near Beckley. The fatalities raised the state's highway toll to 120 compared with 139 by this time last year.

Killed Sunday when a car he was riding in wrecked on U. S. 33 about four miles west of Elkins was Fran J. Wentz, 15, of Hall, Barbour County, the driver, Gary L. Saffie, 17, Belington and two other youths were not seriously hurt.

State Police said the youths were returning home from a tavern when the car went out of control at high speed and smashed into large boulders and a tree.

Killed in the Raleigh County accident Saturday were Robert E. Graham, 17, and Pvt. Jackie L. Keffer, 18, both of Crab Orchard. Keffer was on leave from Ft. Bragg, N. C. They died when a car carrying them and another youth went out of control on Sec. 29, skidded 230 feet and plunged over an embankment.

Gary A. Luttrell, 20, a sailor from Columbus, Ohio, was killed Saturday and three companions were injured when their car hit a bridge abutment on U. S. 40 at Valley Grove near Wheeling.

Killed in the accident near Gallipolis were Milford Charter, 37, and Betty Millrose, both of Huntington, W. Va. Police said Charter's car collided with another automobile carrying three teen-age boys when Charter apparently failed to yield the right-of-way.

Frostburg, Mt. Savage And Money Stay Tied For Pen-Mar Lead

Hermans Drop 6-2 Decision To Lonaconing

Merchants Whip Barrelville, 9-2; Hyndman Loses

PEN-MAR STANDINGS

|-------------|----|----|------|
| Frostburg | 3 | 1 | .750 |
| Mt. Savage | 3 | 1 | .750 |
| Lonaconing | 3 | 1 | .750 |
| Cumberland | 2 | 2 | .500 |
| Barrelville | 1 | 3 | .250 |
| Hyndman | 0 | 4 | .000 |

The tight early-season race in the Pen-Mar Baseball League continues, with three teams tied for first place with 3-1 records following yesterday's action.

Frostburg got back on the winning track with a 9-2 triumph over the Barrelville Old Exports at Barrelville, the Lonaconing Independents downed Cumberland's Hermans 6-2 at Municipal Baseball Field, and Mt. Savage defeated Hyndman 4-1 on the latter team's diamond.

Prior to yesterday's games, four clubs shared the top spot with 2-1 marks, including the Hermans who are now in fourth place at 2-2.

Robert Keister got the Frostburg Merchants rolling again after last week's 14-inning, 5-4 loss to Cumberland. Keister hurled scoreless ball for seven innings before the Old Exports touched him for two harmless runs in the eighth frame.

Dick Pitko Homers

The Merchants, scoring in five different innings, unloaded a 12-hit attack against two Barrelville pitchers. Dick Pitko and Ronnie Diehl headed the assault, the latter getting a triple and two singles and Pitko clouting a two-run home run. Bob Shaw, Robert Keister and Donnie Nave each had a pair of singles.

Pooch Lewis collected two hits, including a double, in three appearances for the Exports, and Jim Kline belted a run-scoring double.

Southpaw Grover Fazenbaker hung up his second victory with an out defeat for Lonaconing. His only rough inning was the third, when the Hermans bunched four of their nine hits for a pair of runs to take a short-lived 2-1 lead.

The Independents came back in the following frame to tie the score, and went ahead in the seventh by scoring a pair of runs on wild pitches. Coney's single runs in the first and fourth were also scored on wild pitches.

Spiker Heads Attack

Ev Spiker was the big stickler for the Independents with two doubles and a single in four trips to the plate. Hank Page rapped a double and single, and Alan Stockholm and Jan Withrow had two singles apiece for the Hermans.

Cumberland used three pitchers, with the loss going to Wellington Donahue (0-2). Donahue relieved starter Johnny Price in the fourth, and Russ Jones came on in the ninth to finish up.

Wayne Johnson, Mt. Savage left-hander, fired a two-hitter and struck out 12 in recording his second triumph in three decisions. Johnson, who retired the first ten men he faced, struck out the side in the eighth inning.

Hyndman's Lou Hite pitched hitless ball for four frames, but had the roof cave in on him in the sixth. Junie Perry and Rich Lybarger hit run-scoring singles, and a sacrifice fly by Ted Fendro in the Old Germans' third tally of the inning.

Bobby Robertson tagged a long home run with the bases empty in the eighth to close out Mt. Savage's scoring.

Threat Squelched

Hyndman's only run came in the seventh and was driven in on a hit by Wayne Bosley. The Pennsylvanians threatened in the bottom of the ninth, but Johnson bore down and got out of a no-out, bases-loaded situation.

Johnson walked the bases full, then proceeded to retire Bosley on a pop, Clites via the strike-out route, and Barclay on a fly ball to centerfield.

The three ninth inning walks were the only passes issued by Johnson. Hite, who was received in the final inning by Ronnie Bowman, was making his first start of the season.

BARCELONA, Spain (UPI) — Dave Tork of the U.S. Marines won the pole vault event in the St. George Track and field meet Sunday with a disappointing leap of 15 feet.

Tork tried to clear 16 feet, 5 inches but failed on all three attempts.

Ward's Triple In 10th Beats Baltimore, 4-3

Chisox Lose First Tilt To Roberts, 4-3

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Pete Ward's 10th inning triple off reliever Dean Stone gave the Chicago White Sox a 4-3 victory in the second game of a doubleheader Sunday after the Baltimore Orioles took the opener by the same score behind the five-hit pitching of Robin Roberts.

Ray Herbert, who started the nightcap and was removed after 8 2/3 innings, had his streak of scoreless innings stopped at 38 men when John Orsino led off the third inning with the first of his two solo home runs.

Orsino also singled home the tying run off reliever Jim Brosnan in the ninth inning, but the White Sox came back to win in the 10th when Dave Nicholson walked, moved to second on a sacrifice and scored on Ward's triple.

Brosnan, acquired from the Cincinnati Reds two weeks ago, was credited with his first victory in the American League, and Stone was charged with his first loss.

Ron Hansen and Camilo Carreon homered for the White Sox in the fourth inning off starter Mike McCormick to give the White Sox a 3-1 lead.

Robin Roberts, who was credited with his second victory in the opener, struck out the 2,000th batter of his major league career when he fanned losing pitcher Juan Pizarro in the third inning. The game was stopped and Roberts was presented with the ball by plate umpire John Stevens.

The Orioles won the game on two unearned runs in the fourth inning off Pizarro, who suffered his first loss following three straight victories.

With the score tied at 2-2, Joe Gaines reached first when third baseman Ward fumbled his grounder. Roberts then singled home Gaines from second base after two were out and scored himself on Luis Aparacio's triple.

Jofre Seeks Shot At Feather Crown

MANILA (UPI) — Eder Jofre of Brazil, fresh from his seventh successful defense of the world bantamweight crown, said Sunday he will shoot next for the world featherweight title.

The 27-year-old champion, who retained his 118-pound title on a 12th round technical knockout over Filipino challenger Johnny Jamito Saturday, said he is intent on getting a crack at the featherweight championship now held by Cuban Sugar Ramos.

"But the money must be right," said Jofre's manager Abraham Katzenelson. "It's got to be $75,000."

Katzenelson said he intends to leave for Los Angeles and start negotiations soon for a Jofre-Ramos title fight, with the Cuban's title at stake.

Candy Spots Seeks Title In Belmont

Pride Of The West Captures Preakness

BALTIMORE (AP) — Candy Spots, the pride of the West, was back on top Sunday in the battle for 3-year-old racing honors and his owners predicted he'd wrap them up by winning the Belmont Stakes at Aqueduct June 8.

The Belmont, third and final jewel in the sport's Triple Crown, is run over the 1 1/2-mile distance, five-sixteenths longer than the Preakness, which the flyer from the Pacific Coast won so impressively Saturday.

"If the Belmont distance makes any difference, I'd expect it to help our horse," said Meshach Tenney, trainer and partner of California's Rex Ellsworth, the owner.

Even the trainers of Candy Spots' chief rivals, Chateaugay and Never Bend, didn't seem very hopeful of taking the initiative away from the California bullet.

Jimmy Conway, whose Chateaugay upset Candy Spots in the Kentucky Derby but finished 3 1/2 lengths back of him for second in the Preakness, refused to enter any alibis for the defeat.

"How are you going to beat the best horse?" Conway said. "No, I don't think Chateaugay stopped running any part of it. He came up to Candy Spots and couldn't get him. He was extending himself right to the wire—running his best."

Never Bend's trainer, Woody Stephens, commented wryly: "Well, it looks like Jimmy (Conway) and I got lucky beating that horse at Louisville. That win Saturday was very impressive. I'll train Never Bend now for the Belmont."

Candy Spots, who trailed both Chateaugay and Never Bend in the Kentucky Derby, ran away from them both in the Preakness at Pimlico before a crowd of 35,263.

Steered by jockey Willie Shoemaker, Candy Spots came home 3 1/2 lengths ahead of John W. Galbreath's Chateaugay, with Never Bend, the 1962 champion 2-year-old, another 4 1/2 lengths back.

To Enter Jersey Derby

Ellsworth and Tenney plan to keep their horse in the East and will take a crack at the $100,000 Jersey Derby at Garden State May 30 before running in the Belmont.

Of the eight horses which ran in the $180,000 Preakness, apparently only the big three—Candy Spots, Chateaugay and Never Bend — will go for the Belmont. Chateaugay may face Candy Spots again in the Jersey Derby.

Boston Divides With Athletics

BOSTON (UPI) Kansas City exploded for two big innings Sunday and a 9-7 victory after Frank Malzone had powered the Boston Red Sox to a 7-3 win in the first game of a doubleheader.

Two-run homers by Athletics George Alusik and Ed Charles set the stage for reliever Bill Fischer's sixth successive victory in the nightcap.

Fischer and John Wyatt held the Red Sox to one run over the final four innings after starter Ed Rakow was driven out. The A's scored five times in the second and four more runs on the home-ers in the fifth to win.

Wyatt was felled by a line drive hit by Lou Clinton with two outs and one on in the ninth. The ball struck him on the forehead but he got up to fan Dick Stuart to end the inning.

Malzone carried Bill Monbouquette to the first-game victory, driving in five runs on his fifth and sixth homers and a pair of singles. He also had two hits and one RBI in the second game.

Potomac State Cops Twinbill To End Season

Bobcats Blanked By WVU Fresh

Potomac State College closed out its sixth baseball season under coach John D. Fox Saturday by sweeping a doubleheader from Davis and Elkins College, 2-1 and 8-1, at Stayman Field in Keyser.

The double triumph gave the Catamounts a 10-7-1 record for 1963. Frostburg State's Bobcats won just under the .500 mark (8-9) by losing to the West Virginia University Freshmen, 5-0, at Beall High Field in Frostburg.

A pair of freshman left-handers hurled the Potomac State victories over D&E. Jim Hildreth fired a three-hitter in the first game for his fourth straight win against two losses, and Rich Robinson duplicated the feat in the nightcap to close out his season's log at 5-3. Both pitchers struck out eight batters in the seven-inning contests.

Fox's six-year record at Potomac State stands at 61 victories, 38 losses and three ties.

Southpaw fireballer Ron Kovach hurled a two-hitter and struck out 13 in sending the FSTC Bobcats down to their season-ending defeat. Back-to-back singles in the fifth inning by George Lauder and Clyde Broadwater were the only hits obtained by the Bobcats.

Freshman Bill Carder went the distance for Frostburg and suffered his fifth loss in eight decisions.

This was Bill Marley's "rookie" year as Bobcat baseball coach, and he can look forward to a successful campaign next season. Only three members of the present club will depart through graduation — Hank Winner, John Nussner and Lauder.

McBride Stops Yankees, 6-2

Belinsky Routed In Nightcap, 10-4

NEW YORK (UPI) —The New York Yankees were subdued by Ken McBride, the newest "Yankee-killer," in the opening game of a doubleheader, 6-2, Sunday and then routed Bob Belinsky after two innings of the nightcap to defeat the Los Angeles Angels 10-4.

Albie Pearson's three-run homer and a two-run blast by rookie Bob Perry in the opener furnished the power for McBride to beat the Yankees for the fifth straight time. McBride pitched a seven-hitter and struck out nine Yankees, including Mickey Mantle three times.

In the second game, the Yankees jumped off to an 8-0 lead against Belinsky in the first two innings, enabling Ralph Terry to coast to a seven-hit triumph. The defeat was Belinsky's seventh of the season against his victory.

Elston Howard's two-run double and Tony Kubek's two-run single were the big blows off Belinsky as the Yankees scored five runs in the first inning. Clete Boyer homered to lead off the second and the Yankees added two more runs when Perry fell and missed Roger Maris' routine fly that might have ended the inning.

Terry, who evened his record at 4-4, experienced only one rocky inning. He gave up four runs in the fifth when Leon Wagner tagged him for his 11th homer of the season with two men on base.

In the opener, the Angels scored in a pair of three-run clusters against Whitey Ford to snap the Yankees' five-game winning streak. The victory also pulled Los Angeles out of a four-game tailspin.

Friend Tames Houston, 5-0

Bucs Snap 5-Game Losing Streak

HOUSTON (AP) — Bob Friend pitched the Pittsburgh Pirates out of a five-game losing skid Sunday, a nine-hitter.

The Pirates cashed in their first run off fastballing Dick Farrell in the fourth inning when Bob Skinner singled with two out, stole second, and came the rest of the way on Bill Mazeroski's single.

Smoky Burgess' double and a single by Bob Bailey added another Pittsburgh run in the fifth. Mazeroski singled across two more against Don McMahon in the eighth, and Donn Clendenon homered in the ninth.

Friend's 5-0 victory snapped a five-game losing streak for the Pirates. The team had lost four of its last five games, including a 10-1 rout by the Cincinnati Reds in the opener.

Three-Way Tie Will Occur If Sentinels Win

Visit Bruce Today, Paw Paw At Keyser

Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's Fort Hill High School Sentinels need a victory to tie Mt. Savage and Allegany for first place in the Allegany County interscholastic Baseball League and they hope to attain that goal when they do battle with winless Bruce High School today at 3:30 p. m., at Westernport.

Fort Hill trounced Bruce, 17-1, in the series opener on April 17 and has copped 16 of the 25 games since the schools opened baseball relations in 1950.

Bruce's last victory over Fort Hill was in the first game of the 1959 series, 4-2. Since then the Bulldogs have scored only two runs while Fort Hill has scored 69 times in winning six in a row. Four of the games have been shut-outs.

Allegany and Mt. Savage lead the county race with 5-2 records while Fort Hill and Valley are deadlocked for the runner-up spot at 4-2.

Keyser High School, battling it out with Beall for the leadership of the Potomac Valley Conference, faces Paw Paw's Pirates in a twin bill today at 3:15 p. m., at Clark Stadium in Keyser.

The second game will be a continuation of last Friday's contest which was interrupted by rain in the top of the third inning with Keyser leading 1-0 and Terry Turbin pitching against Roland Hamilton.

Beall is leading the league with a 6-1 record but a double win for Keyser would put the Golden Tornado on top. Beall has one more conference game with Bruce while Keyser plays Paw Paw twice and Petersburg and Romney. Keyser is now 5-1 and would have to win all of its remaining games to finish ahead of Beall if the latter takes the finale from Bruce on May 28.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN
1610 N. W. 10th St., Miami, Fla.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:

♠KJ9 ♥A5J ♣KQ74 ♠AK6

The bidding has proceeded:

East South West North

1♣ 2♥ 2♠ 2♣

Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Two no trump. No stronger bid is justified. At this point you are not aware that partner has any values whatsoever, so that even a bid of two no trump involves a certain amount of risk and there would be no justification in a jump to three no trump. You have only 21 points which is fractionally short of what it takes to make an opening bid of two no trump.

Q. 2—As South you hold:

♠K864 ♥AKJ1082 ♦7 ♠83

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1♣ 2♥ 2♠ 2♣

Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four spades. This is a very fine holding opposite your partner's strong bidding and would easily be enough to make a slam. However, prudence dictates that you make your try without getting the bidding into the upper reaches. Partner will recognize that you have a combined hand with a fine fit since you combined a free bid with a subsequent jump.

Q. 3—As South you hold:

♠AK63 ♥KJ ♣AKJ1052 ♠9

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1♣ 2♥ 2♠ 2♣

Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Two spades. A rebid at the two level in a higher ranking suit constitutes a reverse and indicates a hand of great strength. While it is not likely that partner has four spades with an honor, since he failed to bid spades on his original response, he may have four small ones, and, in any case, mentioning spades at this juncture will create a better picture, in partner's mind, of your actual distribution than would a jump in diamonds.

Q. 4—As South you hold:

♠K73 ♥J8 ♣853 ♠AKJ104

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

Pass 1♥ Pass 2♣

Pass 3♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four clubs. Although you lack an outstanding fit in either of partner's suits his rebid indicates a holding of about 21 to 22 points and slam prospects are thus too bright to give a three no trump call serious consideration. The best strategy at this point is to make a temporary call in clubs to find out more about partner's hand.

Q. 5—As South, with neither vulnerable, you hold:

♠KQJ93 ♥106 ♣A1083 ♠43

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

Pass 1♥ 2♠ 2♣

Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Two spades. This is a close decision between bidding and doubting the opposition. The excellent test of your suit plus East's nonvulnerable status indicates that in the present case the greater source of profit may come from trying for a game. In a match point contest the double could work out better.

Q. 6—As South you hold:

♠K9 ♥Q864 ♠AKJ ♠AJ74

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1NT Pass 3♣ 2♠

Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four diamonds. Standard procedure does not permit the opening no trump bidder to carry the bidding past three no trump of his own volition but, as partner was willing to make a jump in diamonds on a queen high suit and we do have a maximum, exceptional action seems indicated in this instance. The alternative call is three hearts, which we are not inclined to favor with a suit this weak.

Q. 7—As South you hold:

♠8643 ♥75 ♦K1096 ♠984

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1♥ Pass Pass Double

Redouble Pass Pass 2♣

Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Three diamonds. Your previous passes have severely limited your hand and partner can surely expect no more than this. Since he has continued to contest the proceedings in the face of your bankruptcy announcement, there still remains some prospect of game and a mild inducement should be offered him.

Q. 8—As South you hold:

♠J ♠KQJ103 ♠A9764 ♠108

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

1♠ Pass Pass 2♣

Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Double. This is the indicated procedure for reopening the bidding on a hand of approximately opening bid strength. A mere bid of two hearts should be made in this situation with a somewhat weaker holding.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Dancing For Rhyme And Reason

Watching a late movie recently, I was impressed by two things about several scenes showing ballroom dancing. For one thing, in this "period" film, people were shown doing most graceful, elaborate steps and dances. For another, they appeared to be thoroughly enjoying themselves.

It might be argued that it WAS a movie, not real life. But it is a fact that dancing for recreation used to be more graceful than it appears to have become. And whether or not the movie smiles were genuine, it looked like the kind of dancing that would be thoroughly enjoyable.

We have always advised dancing — as a wonderful means of acquiring grace and poise — to girls who want to become models or just want to become more beautiful women. We would certainly recommend that you encourage your little girls in dancing lessons and other means of increasing rhythm and grace; it's especially helpful in countering the awkwardness common in childhood and adolescence.

Individual dancing lessons should, and usually do, include exposure to various forms of dance — ballet, modern dance, and so on. It seems equally important that social dancing classes (beginners ONLY when children are old enough, please!) should teach a wide variety of steps and dances. Perhaps a lack of lessons is at fault; or perhaps teachers have succumbed to pressure to teach only current fads. At any rate, one suspects that some of our young adults have never SEEN a graceful waltz, for example, let alone attempted to DO such graceful steps.

We would not join in "condemning" any type of dance: self-expression is one of the aims to strive for. So is enjoyment. It's not hard, though, to wonder what kind of "self" is being "expressed" in some of the dancing fads. Looking at the grim faces of some groups of dancers (if you've ever watched those TV dance-party shows for teen-agers, you'll know what I mean!) one can only gather that far from enjoyment, they are gathered for self-torture.

The revival of interest in square dancing is a great encouragement, for it can be beautiful and graceful, as well as being hearty exercise. Let's encourage, especially in youngsters, an interest in many different forms of dancing.

To add this kind of grace and poise to your beauty routine, send for a copy of our Secrets of Charm booklet, "Dance Through a Week to Beauty." Your newspaper will handle your request, which should be sent to me, John Robert Powers, c/o this newspaper, accompanied by 10c and a self-addressed stamped envelope.

Sometimes They Start Very Young!

WASHINGTON (UPI) — William Crook got into a 1960 Cadillac and took off. Seventy yards later, he had rammed an off-duty policeman's car and crashed into another, which in turn hit a third. William is 2 years old.

He got out of the Cadillac, which belongs to a friend of his parents, surveyed the damage and announced: "That wheel is broke."

That wasn't all. Police said the damage to all four cars amounted to about $2,000.

William's father, L. L. Crook, said his son's interest in cars is nothing new. "Just a couple of weeks ago, the police brought him home from Georgia Ave.," the father said. "He was up there directing traffic."

Marker Sought For Mt. Savage

A copy of a House resolution adopted during the recent session of the General Assembly was received Friday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners. The resolution recommends that a marker be erected in Mt. Savage by the Maryland State Historical Society to commemorate the manufacture of the first iron rail in America in that community in 1844.

The rail was made by the old Mt. Savage Iron Works, which had been established in 1839. The resolution also cited the fact that Mt. Savage is widely known for its production of fire brick for many years.

The resolution was sponsored by Del. Lester B. Reed.

Ann Landers ... Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Are you out of your mind? What do you mean by calling that woman "sick" because she resents it when women friends kiss her husband hello and goodbye?

I don't care if it is only a peck on the cheek. They always start that way and before you know it there's a full-blown smooching scene going on right under your nose. I've got the same problem with my old elk so I know what I'm talking about.

There's no such thing as a platonic kiss between members of the opposite sex, so don't fall for THAT one.

Several months ago I got fed up with the monkey-shines of a bottle-blond who enjoyed kissing my husband — not only hello and goodbye, but a few times during the evening as well. I gave him strict orders to keep his pipe in his mouth while the blonde was present, but it didn't help. She pulled the pipe right out of his mouth and kissed him anyway.

We wives have enough trouble with our middle-aged Romeos without having the rug pulled out from under us by nit-wits like you. Why don't you write a cooking column? — FURIOUS

Dear Furious: In a way I DO write a cooking column. Every day I deal with spring chickens, old roosters, cold tomatoes, hot potatoes, sour grapes, spilled milk, assorted nuts and now then I even cook a goose.

DEAR ANN LANDER: Your abrupt reply to the girl who signed herself "Dataless" was most unsympathetic. She was miserable because she was built like an ironing board and then you come along and tell her she probably has a flat personality TOO!

I know how this unfortunate girl feels because I am also built like an ironing board. I was lucky enough to marry a wonderful guy who loves me anyway. But how I yearn to feel and look like a woman! It's horribly depressing to have cheated this way!

I'll admit a flat chest is nothing to kill yourself over but it would be pure bliss if I could fill even a 32 bra.—IRONING BOARD #2

Dear #2: Welcome back from the La Brea tar pits. I've said it no less than twenty times but I'll say it once more!

If curves are so important, why settle for 32? Go to a lingerie store and treat yourself to a 36. Many women wear padded bras because their clothes fit better.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This problem is a touchy one but we need your help desperately.

Our five-year-old son has a serious heart condition. The doctor has told us the boy must rest a great deal. He is able to attend public school, but he cannot indulge in sports. Walking more than a few blocks violates doctor's orders so my husband carries him whenever we go out.

"This past year several people who are unaware of the problem have made thoughtless remarks such as, 'You're too big to let your daddy carry you.' Or 'Big boys walk their daddys don't carry them.'"

"We don't want to make too much of the child's heart condition in his presence, because it may give him an inferiority complex, so my husband and I do not reply when people make remarks. Now the boy refuses to go out with us because he is afraid of being teased about being carried. He is becoming withdrawn and uncommunicative. What can we do? — TROUBLED PARENTS

Dear Parents: The child knows he has a heart condition so please stop playing games and pretending he is just like every other little boy.

Buy him a wheel chair and help him adjust to his handicap. An emotional cripple has it rougher than a physical cripple.

Confidential to OUTSIDER: Yes, there really is an Ann Landers, but she can't print every letter. Don't you have a name, an address, and a 5c stamp?

If alcohol is robbing you or someone you love of health and dignity, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Help For The Alcoholic," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

ANN LANDERS will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ground Breaking

CHICAGO (UPI)—Baxter Laboratories, Inc., said Friday that ground will be broken for a new $2 million plant in Mountain Home, Ark. The plant, located about 100 miles north of Little Rock, will be the firm's largest facility for the manufacture of medical products. Completion of the construction is planned for next February. The plant will employ about 150 persons initially, a spokesman said.

Three Girls Are Rescued From River

Two Hospitalized In Near-Drowning

Three young girls were rescued from possible drowning yesterday afternoon in the South Branch of the Potomac River near Milleson's Mill by two Ridgeley men.

Witnesses said Susie Shanoltz, 15, of Green Spring, Shirley Largent, 17, of Levels and an unidentified companion apparently were swimming when they cried for help.

Frank Altice and Albert Saville, both of Ridgeley, reportedly were fishing nearby in a rubber raft when they heard the girls scream and went to their rescue.

The girls were taken out of the water near Maple Landing.

Miss Shanoltz and Miss Largent were given emergency treatment at the scene and were taken to Hampshire Memorial Hospital, Romney, in the Fort Ashby Volunteer Fire Company ambulance.

They were given further treatment and admitted. The third girl was treated at the hospital and was released after having been rescued by an unidentified man who dived into the water from the river bank.

A crowd estimated at up to 200 persons gathered at the scene of the rescue.

State Police said they had no details of the incident last night.

Two Die In Pa. Crash

Two men were fatally injured in a one-car accident yesterday morning in Stoney Creek Township, Somerset County.

Police identified the men as Cornell Bryant, 28, driver of the vehicle, and Andrew Young, 21, both of Alliquippa, Pa. Young was pronounced dead on arrival at the Somerset Community Hospital and Bryant died of a fractured skull at 2:10 p. m.

Trooper David Bayer of the Pennsylvania State Police said the accident occurred about 8:30 a. m., when the 1962 convertible, traveling east, struck the medial barrier, crossed the eastbound lane and went over an embankment, throwing both occupants from the car.

Kelly Contract Talks Continue

Members of Local 26, Rubber Workers Union, yesterday authorized their negotiators to continue contract talks with the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company on a day-to-day basis.

James W. Stein, Local 26 president, said the action was taken at a membership meeting after the negotiating committee presented a progress report.

He said there were a few issues remaining and that the committee has every intention to complete the negotiations this week. The issues, he said, are "not too big."

Company and union negotiators have been meeting since April to work out a new contract covering some 1,800 hourly-paid workers at the plant.

Also reporting to the members of the local were delegates to a recent District Council convention. Delegates were Alva C. Lewis, Richard Bible, Rachel Muir, Nick Cantone and Herbert Van Fleet.

Allegany High Pupils Will Speak To Rotary

Four Allegany High School students who participated in the Youth and Government activities at the Annapolis Legislative Session will report on their trip to the Rotary Club tomorrow at 12:15 p. m. at the Central YMCA.

They are John Eyer, who was elected governor; John Moffatt, House reading clerk; Charles Kolb, state senator, and Al Stimmler, freshman House member.

The Rotary mixed bowling league banquet will be held tomorrow at 6:30 p. m. at the Cumberland Country Club.

Scotch Girl To Be Practice Teacher At Fort Hill High

A Scotch college student who will celebrate her 19th birthday this week has made arrangements to do some of her practice teaching in physical education next September at Fort Hill High School.

She is Christine W. Worsley, who is now completing the second of three years in the Dunfermline College of Physical Education in Aberdeen, Scotland.

Arrangements for this international practice teaching were made between Robert E. Pence, county supervisor of physical education, and the girl's aunt, Mrs. Molly Smith, who lives on the Pleasant Valley or Bean's Cove Road east of Cumberland. Mrs. Smith, who is a native of England, is a sister of the girl's mother.

Mrs. Smith said her niece plans to spend about three months in the United States, arriving here July 1. A part of her training requires Miss Worsley to observe student nurses, and this requirement will be filled at Memorial Hospital this summer.

While at Fort Hill, Miss Worsley hopes to see some other classes in action, observing particularly art, drama and music.

Although she was born in Dundee, Scotland, in 1944, Miss Worsley spent her early childhood with her family in Lima, Peru. She returned to Scotland in 1949, and commented in her letter to Mr. Pence that she is no stranger to Maryland. She spent the summer here in 1954.

She completed her high school education at Dundee in 1961 and was a house captain during her last year at Dundee High School.

Salvation Army Observes Week, Invites Visitors

National Salvation Army Week is being observed all this week at the Salvation Army Citadel, 115 North Mechanic Street.

Major Ben Jones, commanding officer of the Salvation Army here, last night extended a general invitation to interested citizens to visit the Citadel this week. That way they can see how the Salvation Army, aided by many volunteers, endeavors, "With Heart to God and Hand to Man," to ease the burdens of the poor, the lonely, the troubled and the hungry.

Last year, as a member agency of the County United Fund, the Salvation Army performed a number of significant services. Among them are the following:

Filled 308 grocery orders, 14 fuel orders 10 rent orders; provided 20,074 pieces of clothing, 856 pairs of shoes, 34 medicine orders and provided assistance in 257 cases.

At Christmas time some 250 baskets and 1,510 toys were provided for the less fortunate.

During the past year 1,194 lodgings were provided and 3,067 meals. The Salvation Army also conducted 319 religious services, which had a total attendance of 12,291. Some 51 ladies club meetings were held and the attendance totaled 1,812. Some 370 youth character building classes were held and the attendance added up to 10,729.

Red Cross Will Elect Directors At Dinner

Nominations for the board of directors will be presented at the annual dinner meeting of Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross, Wednesday at 7 p. m. at Cumberland Country Club.

Names to be presented are Mrs. James Getty, Lonaconing; Miller Bowen, Frostburg, Lee Silcox, Mrs. Hammond Amick Jr., Mrs. Norman Geatz Sr., and Rev. William Cox.

Mrs. Geatz and Rev. Mr. Cox are completing three-year terms and are eligible for appointment to another three-year term.

Members of the nominating committee are Mrs. William S. Jenkins, chairman, Victor D. Heister and Mrs. Thomas Holmes.

Lamar M. Prosser, disaster representative for Eastern area, will be the speaker for the dinner meeting which is open to the public. Reservations may be made by calling the chapter office 722-1760.

Allegany UN Club Fetes Mothers At Banquet

Carrying out the theme of "Food From Other Lands," members of the United Nations Club of Allegany High School recently presented the annual banquet for their mothers.

The menu was composed of recipes from seven foreign countries.

Arrangements for the dinner, held at Emmanuel Episcopal Church, were provided by Judy Dickerhoof, chairman; Mary Anne Sharer, Karen Gilbert and Nancy Stichter. Food was prepared under the supervision of Ann McClellan, chairman, and her committee of Darlene Baker, Jeri Schrock, Diane Mitchell, Janice Gibson, John Robb and Allen Foster.

Margaret Weed headed the decorations committee, assisted by Jane Zimowski, Tinae Lambert,

Y Plans Day Camp For Youngsters

A special session of "Camp Echo," YMCA Day Camp, will be offered for children ages 6, 7, 8 from August 5 through August 15, according to Benjamin F. Haines and Lynn Patchin, Y secretaries.

Children attending this session must have attended at least one year of school. Children eight years of age or older may attend one of the other three sessions of Camp Echo, June 17, July 8 and July 22.

The special session will be limited to 60 children. Hours are from 9:30 a. m. until 3:30 p. m. The children will be taken to Shawnee Park and New Germany for swimming, games and recreation on four of the camp days.

Counselors assisting Mr. Patchin and Mr. Haines will be Miss Pamela Davis and Ronald Riggs.

Camp days spent at the Y will include crafts, contests, movies and shows in the Y club rooms and organized games and recreation on the outdoor playground and in the gymnasium. The children will have swimming instruction in the morning and a cooling-off swim in the afternoon.

Each child will bring his own lunch and the Y will provide milk.

Registration may be made by calling the YMCA. The Y bus will pick up children each day in the LaVale and Cresaptown areas.

10,944 Eligible To Cast Votes

A total of 10,944 citizens of Cumberland are eligible to vote in tomorrow's special election, according to City Clerk Wallace G. Ulery.

Voting machines were delivered to 15 polling places on Friday by the Board of Election Supervisors, and all city voting books were turned over to county election officials.

Polls for the fluoridation referendum will be open from 7 a. m. until 7 p. m.

Based on the last special election, the referendum will cost the city about $5,000.

Mr. Ulery said the cost of the 1957 referendum on a proposal to boost the operating tax limit from $1.25 to $1.50 was just short of $5,000.

Native Of Barton Accident Victim

Glen S. Jacobs, 62, a native of Barton, died in St. Luke's Hospital, Saginaw, Mich., following a one car accident Friday about 8 p. m. on the Veterans Memorial Highway, Saginaw. He lived approximately three hours after the mishap.

A resident of 719 South Harrison Street, Saginaw, he was a son of the late Stanley M. and Olive (Jacobs) Jacobs. His wife, Loretta S. (Burkett) Jacobs, died in 1938.

He was a retired office manager for Swift and Company, having retired last October.

Survivors include one son, Ronald D. Jacobs, Saginaw, and three brothers: Jessie Jacobs, Frostburg, John Jacobs, Lonaconing, and Earl Jacobs, Homestead, Pa.

The body will be brought to the George Funeral Home Wednesday when friends will be received from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m.

Allegany UN Club Fetes Mothers At Banquet

Carol Dyck, William Van Ormer, Ronnie Marple, Pat Hallinan, Susan Kuykendall and Linda Trozzo.

Richard Weisman, an Allegany student, showed and commented on slides of Mexico. Members of the entertainment committee were Ellen Reinhart, chairman; Billie Holbrook and Mark Baker.

Following dinner, Carol Ann Peetry, president, introduced committee chairmen and extended a formal welcome to the guests. Approximately 50 persons attended.

Other officers besides Miss Peetry are Miss Reinhart, vice president; Miss Stichter, secretary; Louise Costello, treasurer; Miss Holbrook, chaplain; Miss Dickerhoof and Miss Trozzo, junior and sophomore historian, respectively. Mrs. Ida Mae Robb is adviser.

Survey Made Of Day Care Facilities

Youth Commission Lists 9 In County

There are nine existing facilities for group day care of preschool children in Allegany County according to a survey recently completed by the committee on detention, foster care and institutions of the Allegany County Youth Commission.

The survey was undertaken as a part of a state exploration by a Commission to Study Day Care Services in Maryland appointed in 1962 by Governor Tawes. Dennis Smyth, Baltimore, is chairman of the commission and local members are Miss Esther Carter, chairman, and Mrs. Douglas Paulson.

Six of the county facilities are either sponsored by church groups or are community projects, two are privately owned and one is subsidized by the state. With two exceptions these facilities are filled to capacity and most of them have long waiting lists.

The LaVale Methodist Church kindergarten has 57 enrolled with 15 on waiting list; Emmanuel House Kindergarten (Emmanuel Episcopal Church), 25 enrolled, 10 on waiting list; Trinity Lutheran Kindergarten, 60 enrolled, long waiting list; Hill Street Kindergarten, Frostburg community project, 30 enrolled, 50 on waiting list.

Tri-Towns Kindergarten, Luke 28 enrolled, 38 on list; Bishop Murray Day School (St. Peter's Episcopal Church, Lonaconing), eight enrolled, no waiting list; Kinder House, Cumberland Street, operated by Miss Margaret Voelke, 18 enrolled, no waiting list; Pied Piper Nursery, Baltimore Avenue, operated by Mr. and Mrs. Carey Selvey, 17 enrolled, no waiting list. This nursery was opened recently.

Thomas G. Pullen School at Frostburg State Teachers College has 25 enrolled and always has a long waiting list. Cumberland YMCA sponsors a short-term nursery school with two classes weekly, and St. Luke's Lutheran Church, Cumberland, plans to open a kindergarten next fall.

With the exception of the Thomas G. Pullen School which operates with state-appropriated funds, charges range from $14 to $50 a month, depending on the daily hours involved. Five have full day sessions and include lunch.

At a recent meeting of the Allegany County Youth Commission, Mr. Smith, Mrs. Harold Hayes, a member of the state study group and Miss Margery Chambers, secretary to the commission, spoke on day care services in Maryland and outlined the aims of the commission.

It was felt that there is an increasing need for added day care service both in Allegany County and in the state to meet the needs of working mothers. The local Youth Commission expressed its interest in encouraging further facilities to meet these needs.

YMCA To Offer Trip To Skyline Drive, Caverns

The YMCA will offer all interested boys and girls a supervised trip Saturday, leaving the Y at 7:30 a. m., to visit the Skyline Caverns in Front Royal, Va., followed by a ride for sight-seeing on the Skyline Drive to Elkfall Wayside which is at 3,900 feet elevation.

At Skyline Caverns the children will have a guided tour through the caverns which boast of having the only known anthodite formations in the world.

Adult supervision on the trip will be under the direction of Benjamin Haines, Y secretary. Interested children may register for the trip by calling the YMCA at PA 4-5445. The maximum age limit for the trip is 13.

Darby Will Head Men Of Emmanuel

The Men of Emmanuel elected new officers following a corporate Communion yesterday morning at Emmanuel Episcopal Church.

New officers are Albert D. Darby, president; Allan D. Macy, vice president; John A. Jacobsen, secretary, and Walter Neff, treasurer. Members of the Board of Governors elected with the new officers are L. Leslie Helmer, Randolph Millholland and John C. Agathon.

The Men of Emmanuel take part in a corporate Communion each quarter, conduct an oyster feed in the fall and a shrimp feed in the spring and assist the church in other ways throughout the year.

REV. RICHARD BUDDEN

Rev. R. Budden Will Receive Degree June 3

Rev. Richard A. Budden, pastor of Davis Memorial Methodist Church, will receive a bachelor of sacred theology degree from the Wesley Theological Seminary June 3.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. Loring W. Budden, Saginaw, Mich., he became pastor of Davis Memorial in June 1960 and began to study at the Wesley Seminary that fall.

Rev. Mr. Budden, a native of Michigan, graduated from Arthur Hill High School, Saginaw, in 1956. After completing a year at Bay City Junior College, he went to Asbury College, Wilmore, Ky., where he graduated with an A.B. degree cum laude. Upon finishing college in December 1959, he served at Scotts-Fulton Charge of the Michigan Conference of the Methodist Church until he came to Cumberland.

While attending Wesley, Rev. Mr. Budden sang and toured with the Seminary Singers. He and his wife, the former Donna Marie Hayward of Scotts, Mich., reside in the Methodist parsonage, RD 4.

Upon graduation, he plans to enter the pastoral ministry and to join the Michigan Conference of the Methodist Church. He will receive his elders' orders this June and expects to serve in the Lansing-Albion area of Michigan.

Regulations Commended

An Allegany County resident who was a quiet observer at the County Planning and Zoning Commission's hearing last Tuesday night on the proposed subdivision regulations has written the commission a letter of congratulation on the development of these regulations.

The letter came from David Walton, 300 McCullen Highway, who stressed that he and his ancestors have long had an interest in Allegany County. He noted that his great grandfather contracted Emmanuel Episcopal Church.

He said in part: "To the best of my recollection, builders and developers native to the area were at one time unregulated amateurs. These persons are still operating under the same basic regulations as they did 20 years ago. The homeowner today is paying for their inadequacies — excessively narrow streets that go nowhere, broken pavements, unmitigated sewage, inferior lot sizes, inadequate drinking water and depreciating property values.

"Present and future homeowners and industries must be assured that our county will provide the most benefits possible from its abundance of natural resources."

Urban Renewal Planning Grant To Be Sought

Application Is Being Prepared

The Cumberland Urban Renewal Agency hopes to submit an application for a planning grant for its first project—a general neighborhood renewal program for the rehabilitation of the downtown business district—by June 1, according to William F. DeMare, executive director.

He said approval of such an application generally takes from four to six weeks.

The planning grant could be approved sooner, however, since staffers of the Urban Renewal Administration have given tentative approval of the project during visits here.

Mr. DeMare said the initial application for the planning grant would be in two parts. The first would outline the specific project area to be undertaken now, and the second part would list information and objectives of the total downtown project.

The grant, if approved, will provide funds to allow to local agency to proceed with specific project planning.

The tentative plans of the agency will be studied in detail this week when Albert Cuthbertson, field representative from the Philadelphia office of the Urban Renewal Administration, and a staff planner, visit the CURA office in City Hall.

Some weeks ago, Mr. Cuthbertson made an extensive tour of the city, and particularly the areas which the local agency is recommending for urban renewal.

Mr. DeMare said the agency here has prepared a tentative application for a planning grant, and that it can be submitted as soon as the Urban Renewal staffers from Philadelphia give the green light.

Members of the agency, in recent weeks, have discussed plans which are leading to the designation of the first project to be undertaken.

Taking part in the planning talks have been Marion T. Powers, chairman; Karl W. Bachman, vice chairman; Denton A. Fuller, secretary, and Edward L. Ewald and Harry A. Smith, members, along with Mayor Earl D. Chaney and City Attorney Hugh A. McMullen.

During joint meetings, the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission and the Cumberland Urban Renewal Agency have agreed on the need for one major and three minor urban renewal projects for the city.

The major project, which would be undertaken over a 10-year period, calls for a general neighborhood renewal project for the entire downtown business district.

Other projects recommended are an urban renewal clearance project in an area west of Maryland Avenue and north of Oldtown Road; rehabilitation of the North Centre Street neighborhood and a clearance project in an area bounded by Greene Street, the Potomac River and a railroad spur line.

Safe-Teen Group Is Commended By County Board

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners sent a letter of commendation to Chapter 377, Safe - Teen Inc. on Friday.

The county commissioners praised the group for its effort to eliminate defective vehicles from the roads of Allegany County. They expressed a belief that the annual safety check, scheduled June 13-15, will reduce the possibility of accidents here.

Parking Pattern To Be Reversed

Parking will be reversed this morning on Frederick Street, from Linden Street to the Jenkins store, according to Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan.

He said the change, from the right to the left side of the street, will be placed into effect at 8:30 a. m. and will be effective until further notice.

The change is being made with the approval of the Maryland State Roads Commission, and is intended to even up wear on the heavily traveled street.

Miss Eastern W. Va.

Miss Kathryn W. Carvey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Carvey, 185 B Street, Keyser, W. Va., is shown after her crowning as Miss Eastern West Virginia in a contest at Keyser High School Saturday night under sponsorship of the Junior Association of Commerce. First runner-up was Miss Marie Elizabeth Miller, also of Keyser, and second runner-up was Miss Margaret Ann Stagers of Keyser. Miss Carvey and Miss Miller are students at Potomac State College, and Miss Stagers attends West Virginia University.

Post Office Marks Rural Mail Box Cleanup Week

This week has been designated by Postmaster General J. Edward Day as rural mail box improvement week. Each year in the spring a time is designated to focus attention on rural mail boxes, to point out the necessity of beautifying mail boxes along with spring house-cleaning.

The unsightly appearance of a large number of rural mail boxes has caused concern, and the post office is conducting a nationwide campaign to clean up these neglected spots.

Earlier this month the members of Happy Valley Senior 4-H Girls Club received a commendation from the Post Office Department for participation in last year's campaign. The girls conducted a program of painting and decorating mail boxes in their area.

More than half a century ago, when rural free delivery service was established, it was ridiculed as a foolish experiment. Patrons who received mail in those first days put up shaky posts and attached discarded kitchenware and old baskets to hold the mail. Later the Department stepped in with an order that all mail boxes must conform to a definite standard size, shape and supports.

Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon said that during the week of May 20 all patrons are urged to see that their boxes meet these standards. The box must be a regular mail box authorized by the Post Office Department. It must be in good condition with a door that opens easily, and a flag and must be securely attached on an upright sturdy post. It must be placed on the right side of the road as the carrier travels.

City dwellers are also requested to take part in the campaign for improving mail receptacles, as it is believed that where mail boxes are improved the mail service is likewise improved.

The Post Office is anxious always to give good service, the postmaster said, and city patrons can assist in this ambition along with the rural dwellers by making sure their mail boxes are adequate in size, of approved design, and in good repair; clearly visible and readily accessible; locked, if in an apartment house or otherwise unprotected; properly identified, and neat in appearance.

Postmaster Conlon said all patrons are urged to cooperate in the mail box improvement week, especially since the mail box is the "front door" to the home.

Injured Playing Ball

William Shertzer, 25, of 281 East Main Street, Frostburg, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday afternoon after suffering a broken ankle while playing softball at the County Home field. His condition is satisfactory.

Mr. Armbruster joined the National Shawmut Bank of Boston as a trainee in 1953 and prior to that time he was affiliated with the Burroughs Corporation. He is a certificate holder of the Williams College School of Banking, class of 1950, and since 1961 has been an instructor there. Beginning in 1955 he was a methods analyst and correspondent bank consultant for the Shawmut Bank.

Elected assistant cashier in 1960, he was promoted to assistant vice president as officer in charge of the methods department in January 1963. He is editor of the bank's publication, "Yankee Ingenuity," a service for correspondent banks.

He served as an area captain for the United Fund, assistant treasurer and treasurer of the cub scouts, treasurer of Wellesley Boy Scouts and auditor of W. H. Congregational Church.

Mr. Armbruster has served as a director of Babson Institute Alumni Association and as vice president of the Babson Boston development program. He is active as a coach in Little League.

In Hospital

Charles B. Hornbrook, Bowling Avenue, Bowling Green, was reported in good condition at Memorial Hospital last night, where he was admitted for observation after a traffic accident on Baltimore Street yesterday.
